

Call for Papers

ECSR 1st Thematic Workshop

Demography and Inequality

organised with MPIDR and Population Europe

December 8-9, 2016 - Wissenschaftsforum Berlin, Germany.

The workshop aims to bring together demographers and sociologists to discuss the relationship between core demographic processes (fertility, migration, mortality & health) and social inequality. How are current demographic developments in Europe and beyond, including increasing life expectancy, low fertility and rising migration related to social inequalities and their transmission from one generation to the next? How do country-specific patterns of social mobility and social inequality affect fertility, migration and mortality? Presentations closely linked to the workshop theme are most welcome.

Key-note speakers:

Prof. Torkild Hovde Lyngstad - University of Oslo

<http://www.sv.uio.no/iss/english/people/aca/torkildl/index.html>

Alyson van Raalte, PhD - Max Planck Institute for Demographic Research

http://www.demogr.mpg.de/en/institute/staff_directory_1899/alyson_van_raalte_1575.htm

Abstracts of max. 1000 words (plus three keywords) can be submitted to demographyinequality@wzb.eu

Important dates:

Abstract submission deadline: July 31st, 2016

Acceptance notification: September 15th, 2016

Submission final papers: November 7th, 2016

Organizing Committee:

Sarah Carol (University of Cologne, ECSR), Andreas Edel (Population Europe), Anette E. Fasang (Humboldt University & WZB, ECSR), Mikko Myrskylä (MPIDR), Merlin Schaeffer (University of Cologne, ECSR), André Schmandke (MPIDR), Emanuela Struffolino (WZB, ECSR), Ann Zimmermann (Population Europe).

The ECSR promotes a yearly thematic workshop in collaboration with member institutions.